

Info-Bytes Partners Program
Programa de Agentes de Venta Info-Bytes
(PAVI)
Terms and conditions.

Program Description
Terms and conditions
Final notes

—

Description of the program.

PAVI is the Info-Bytes program that allows companies and individuals offering services as selling agents or dealers of Info-Bytes. It is an opportunity to earn income from the Info-Bytes services sells.

Info-Bytes devoted time and resources to keep their agents, allowing those familiar with the perfection of each service and receive information, such as promotional material, marketing tools, training and assistance.

This program is free for all concerned, should not be any money invested.

Those interested in this program can do directly at <http://www.info-bytes.net/home/partner-register/> or via email at admin@info-bytes.net, clearly indicating they are making a request to become selling partners.

Terms and Conditions.

1. This program (PAVI from now on) is open to any adult person or registered companies that wish to incorporate additional services to their business.
2. The program does not discriminate or prevent access to any interested party by factors such as sex, marital status, race or ethnicity, place of residence, social, political or religious ideology, other current work, etc..
3. We recommend the individuals or companies to have a minimum knowledge about the products being offered, which are detailed in subsequent sections or Info-Bytes resources.
4. Info-Bytes will evaluate each proposal to determine feasibility of the contract. To this end, Info-Bytes can request further information to confirm the provided information.

5. The agreements are signed with stakeholders for a period of one (1) year, and will be automatically renewed for one (1) year unless either party communicates with a period of not less than thirty (30) days before the expiration of that agreement.
6. Info-Bytes is the intellectual owner of the services offered through this program. The sale of each service does not require that the buyer or sales agent to obtain rights of modification or restructuring of these services.
7. Info-Bytes will respect the property of customers generated actors. However, Info-Bytes will send to those customers, when appropriate, messages, such as statistics and other material that forms part of our service.
8. The sales agent may not assign their rights to a third agent, without the prior agreement between Info-Bytes and the agent involved.
9. Info-Bytes agents appointed under terms of non-exclusivity. This factor is reciprocal, because Info-Bytes may appoint more officers in areas where discretion is required, and the agent may represent other companies or brands.
10. The agent may use the logos and marks of Info-Bytes involved in the agreement. This item does not, however, authorize the use of Info-Bytes resources that are not related to this program, or use any resources (logo, website, etc) for private or actions outside the program.
11. If the agent have a website, he must place on that page the logo of this alliance. The logo will be sent to the agent once the agreement is signed, and must be published within 30 days after signing the agreement, remaining visible while the agreement remains.
12. Info-Bytes will publish in accordance with the preceding paragraph, information about their agents in their designated page for the purpose. This information will include the name of registered agent (person or company) and ways to contact that person.
13. Info-Bytes provides customizable marketing materials for sales campaigns, solely to its officers.
14. Neither Info-Bytes nor Sales Agent are responsible for issues and events not covered by any of the services rendered. Problems related to power outage, fire, flood, theft of materials, or any unforeseen natural or caused by others it is considered unexpected, not determined lack of accountability on the part of Info-Bytes or agent.
15. The agent must have a system of charging for their profits, as PayPal or bank account.
16. It is strongly recommended that the agent has an active electronic mail account.
17. The agent will respect the prices quoted for each product and service. Must not increase these costs and is advised not reduced. Finding that the cost of a service has been altered, it can cancel the agreement.
18. Info-Bytes can exclude people whose conduct is in conflict with accepted principles of morality in general
19. The plan can't be used to promote services to businesses that promote violence, segregation or discrimination in any form, pornography, spam, fraud or any vituperio to individuals or groups.
20. Info-Bytes implement all the conditions and arrangements set out by international agencies that regulate the services provided.
21. Sales agents can use the techniques that create desirable if such techniques do not involve conflict with the commonly accepted ethical standards, and are not penalized in the area where they are.
22. If you use email to promote the services, is strictly prohibited from using SPAM

- and other electronic communication techniques not approved.
23. The selling agents will not use this program for the benefit of personal purchases with Info-Bytes. The Agent will provide the services provided to third parties, regardless of the direct relationship with that agent (for example, can offer service to companies outside the agent, or persons having no direct relationship with the staff and even family members). For personal shopping, Info-Bytes submit additional plans for the benefit of their agents.
 24. Both Info-Bytes, as any agent will respect and not disclose any confidential information relating to either party.
 25. The Sales Agent agrees to all terms of these conditions.
 26. Info-Bytes as both the agent undertakes to respect the agreement, based on these terms, and push and work into each other fairly.

Concluding remarks.

This document may be updated as circumstances require. In this case, Info-Bytes will notice and send a copy to their agents by e-mail.

All terms of this agreement is to regulate the service and considerations and to avoid activities that may harm any of the parties, including customers. If any item is causing the opposite result, Info-Bytes can consider it for correction.

PAVI Program - Info-Bytes
Piedras c / Piria S / N, Piriápolis, Uruguay
CP 20200
www.info-bytes.net